

CALL FOR PROPOSALS INQAAHE CONFERENCE 2027

INQAAHE presents this call for proposals to host the INQAAHE Conference 2027.

The INQAAHE Conference is a biennial gathering of professionals, experts, and policymakers from around the world aimed at facilitating discussion on emerging issues and sharing best practices in higher education quality assurance. In addition to a 2-dayfull programme of plenary and breakout sessions, the event features a range of additional learning and networking activities including: pre-Conference workshops, a meeting with regional quality assurance networks, an INQAAHE General Assembly meeting, and plenty of opportunities for delegates to network and engage in discussion.

INQAAHE Conference 2021 - United Kingdom (online)

INQAAHE Conference 2023 - Astana (Kazakhstan)

Preliminary proposals (expressions of interest) due: January 31, 2025

Final proposals due: February 28, 2025

The preliminary proposal (expression of interest) should include 2-3 pages of relevant information, as outlined in the proposal guidelines. Successful applicants will be asked to submit a more detailed final proposal. If the proposal meets the general requirements, applicants will be invited to give a short presentation at the INQAAHE Conference in May 2025 in Tokyo (Japan), where the General Assembly of INQAAHE will vote on the winning proposal.

Previous Conferences:

Madrid 2011, Taipei 2013, Chicago 2015, Manama 2017, Colombo 2019, Glasgow 2021, Astana 2023, Tokyo 2025.

INQAAHE Conference 2027 Proposal Guidelines

General Considerations

Delivery mode

The INQAAHE Board opts for in-person events as the preferred option for future Conferences. Consideration might be given to limited online engagement such as with confirmed speakers who might be unable to travel to the conference, and remote engagement with delegates with specific activities, such as plenary sessions, the General Assembly meeting, the Regional Networks meeting and the INQAAHE Board meeting.

Eligible applicants

The Board of INQAAHE seeks expressions of interest from member agencies to host the biennial Conference of 2027.

Potential attendees/target public of the Conference

INQAAHE is a world-wide association of over 300 professionals and experts in the theory and practice of quality assurance in higher education. Both INQAAHE members and non-members are welcomed to attend the event.

Proposal submission process

The process for submitting an expression of interest to host the 2027 INQAAHE Conference includes a preliminary proposal and, once approved, a full proposal and presentation for the General Assembly, according to the following timeline:

- January 31, 2025: Preliminary proposal (expression of interest) due. This document should include 2-3 pages of relevant information, as outlined in the proposal guidelines.
- February 10, 2025: The INQAAHE Board approves applications that meet the general requirements and invites applicants to submit a more detailed final proposal.
- February 28, 2025: Final proposals due for the invited finalists.
- May 13-16, 2025: Presentation to the General Assembly of INQAAHE at the 2025 INQAAHE Conference in Tokyo (Japan), and subsequent voting.

Benefits of Hosting

Hosting an international conference of this scale is a unique opportunity to showcase the progress and innovation in your tertiary education and quality assurance systems, attracting global attention far beyond your country and region. It also positions your agency and institutions as leaders in the field, fostering international collaboration, drawing potential partnerships, and enhancing your global reputation. This event not only highlights your educational strengths but also stimulates exchanges that can have lasting impacts on both local and international levels. Ultimately, hosting an INQAAHE Conference is a valuable service to the entire INQAAHE community.

Geographical Considerations

Agencies interested in hosting an event should note that, in order to provide the Network members the greatest opportunity for attendance, it is not the practice to hold events in the same region or continent where a recent Conference or Forum took place, if alternate locations are available. The Board's decision will be based on INQAAHE's tradition of holding meetings in varying locations (with no two consecutive events in the same region), as well as the ability of the membership to travel to the proposed location easily and safely. Considering the venues for the INQAAHE annual events for the last ten years, preferences for hosting the INQAAHE Conference 2027 will be given to the following regions:

- Arab States
- Latin America and the Caribbean
- North America, and
- Western Europe.

INQAAHE's Conferences have been or will be held in the following locations: Madrid 2011, Taipei 2013, Chicago 2015, Manama 2017, Colombo 2019, Glasgow 2021, Astana 2023, Tokyo 2025. Biannual Forums, which alternate with the biannual conference, have been recently (or will be) held in the following locations: Windhoek 2010, Melbourne 2012, Tallinn 2014, Fiji 2016, Mauritius 2018, Moscow 2020, Mexico 2022, Bucharest 2024, Sun City 2026.

Conference Dates

The proposed dates of the Conference should not fall on or near major religious holidays and observances, for the convenience and safety of attendees. Generally, for 2027, acceptable months are April, May, and early June.

Conference Structure

The typical structure of the Conference has been as follows, although is subject to improvements and adjustments over time.

Day 1: Pre-Conference workshops that last between 3 to 6 hours, followed by a regional networks meeting.

Day 2 & 3: Opening events, concurrent parallel sessions, plenary sessions, and a gala dinner.

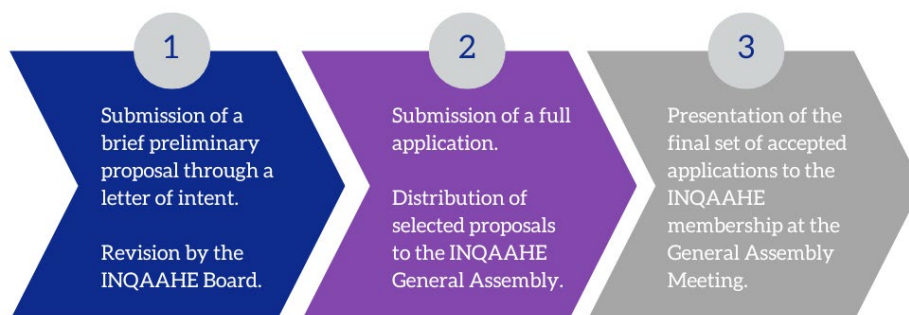

Day 4: Optional cultural events or tours. (Arranged by host but costs do not need to be included in the conference fee.)

In addition, the INQAAHE Board of Directors typically meets the day before the Conference begins.

A draft/blank agenda is included in the annexes of this document.

Application Steps and Requirements

Hosting an INQAAHE Conference involves a three-step application process:

1. Preliminary proposal: Submit a brief proposal, including a letter of intent and responses to specific criteria, to the INQAAHE Secretariat. The Board will review the proposal and decide whether to proceed to the next step.
2. Full application: Submit a comprehensive application addressing all outlined requirements. The INQAAHE Secretariat will review applications for completeness before presenting them to the Board. The Board may request additional information if necessary.
3. Presentation and voting: Complete applications will be distributed to INQAAHE members for voting at the General Assembly. A comparison grid will be provided to aid members in their review.

The INQAAHE Board reserves the right to request additional information or reject incomplete applications.

Step I – Submission of the Preliminary Proposal

Interested agencies must submit their brief preliminary proposal by January 31, 2025, in order to be considered for review. These proposals are intended to provide a general overview of information and are not expected to include detailed information on each item listed below. Thus, the preliminary proposal should be no more than 2-3 pages in length.

The preliminary proposal must include a formal letter of intent to host the INQAAHE Conference, and information addressing the following items:

- Name of hosting organization and type of INQAAHE membership;
- Proposed location and venue of the INQAAHE event:
 - o Agencies interested in hosting events should note that INQAAHE avoids offering consecutive events in the same region or continent;
- A statement of motivation for wanting the INQAAHE event in the proposed location and venue, including the perceived positive impact on INQAAHE, as well as the region, should an INQAAHE Conference be held in the proposed location;
- Brief description of experience in hosting conferences and other meetings, including a description of the agency's prior involvement at INQAAHE Conferences or Fora;
- Brief outline of staff support available for event planning;

- Travel considerations, including ease of travelling to the proposed INQAAHE Conference location and venue, ability for attendees to obtain visas, or an explanation of how the host agency plans to deal with any barriers that might impede access to the event;
- Relative cost for attendees (registration fees, approximate accommodation costs, etc.).

The INQAAHE Board will notify all potential applicants of its decisions to accept or reject the preliminary proposals that were submitted for review. The Board will only ask agencies to submit full proposals if there is sufficient reason to believe that there is adequate support and experience for hosting an INQAAHE event. All agencies whose preliminary proposals are accepted by the Board will be asked to submit a full application for hosting the event.

Step II – Submission of the Full Application

Full applications for hosting the INQAAHE Conference must be submitted by February 28, 2025.

The application must cover all the following requirements outlined below and include documented evidence to support the narrative, but may also include other information on matters, which the applicant deems relevant.

1. Official Support

a. Host agency

The applicant must be a Full Member of INQAAHE, and the application should be submitted by the agency's chief officer with the authority of the governing body.

b. Institutional support

It is highly recommended that the application includes a letter of support from a relevant government ministry or agency, especially if financial or other assistance is being sought.

2. Location and Space

a. Venue

When selecting a venue for the INQAAHE Conference, consider the following factors:

- Accessibility: Choose a location with convenient transportation options, including a nearby hub airport and easy access for those traveling by car.
- Location: A central city location is preferable.
- Accessibility within the Venue: Ensure the venue has a lift or ramp to accommodate all attendees.
- Co-location: If possible, consider venues where the conference and the main hotel are located in the same building for added convenience.
- Security: consideration for the security of attendees to the event needs to be taken into account and detailed in the proposal.

These factors will help minimize travel costs and inconveniences for delegates.

b. Meeting rooms

The conference venue should provide:

- A plenary room that can accommodate up to 300 participants, with clear visibility for all attendees and a stage with a lectern.

- Sufficient breakout rooms for parallel sessions, ensuring easy access and a comfortable environment.
- Essential facilities such as audiovisual equipment and restrooms in all rooms.
- Natural lighting whenever possible.

c. Registration area

- Accessibility: The registration area should be easily accessible to all participants.
- Capacity: It should be able to accommodate up to 300 people comfortably.
- Networking Space: Providing designated areas for networking is desirable.

d. Poster sessions

A designated area within the venue should be reserved for poster presentations from INQAAHE members. The poster room will ideally be located in a high-traffic area where attendee can network, such as near the dining or refreshment areas.

e. Board room

The INQAAHE Board will hold a one-day meeting prior to the event. The host agency is expected to make all the necessary arrangements related to the facility, room, and refreshments for the approximately 14 persons.

f. Technology

Attendees should have access to free wi-fi services throughout the Conference venue. All presentation spaces should be equipped with the capacity to project presentations electronically. Availability of IT support would be advisable in plenary and in breakout session rooms, with basic English communication capacities.

Should any hybrid session or meeting be accessible remotely, it will be necessary to provide access to teleconference facilities to accommodate remote access for those attending virtually.

g. Refreshments

- Standard offerings: Hosts typically provide a midday meal and refreshments such as coffee and tea.
- Budgetary considerations: The cost of refreshments should be included in the overall conference budget.

h. Social Programme

- Gala Dinner: A traditional gala dinner is often included in conference programs. The host should offer a variety of food options to cater for participants subject to food restrictions.
- Cultural presentation: Consider including a cultural performance or presentation to showcase the host country's traditions.
- Networking reception: A casual reception, typically held on the first day, provides an opportunity for networking and conversation.
- Pre- and Post-Conference cultural events: Cultural activities can enhance attendees' experience at the Conference and hosts are encouraged to arrange activities, if convenient. There is not an expectation that the host will pay the costs of tour activities.

- Budgetary considerations: Both the gala dinner and reception should be planned carefully and included in the conference budget. Local or corporate sponsorship can help offset costs.

i. Pre-Conference Workshops

- Timing: Workshops typically take place on the day before the conference begins.
- Location: They are usually held in or near the main conference venue.
- Facilities: The host agency provides facilities for the workshops.
- Registration: An additional fee is charged for workshop participation.
- Schedule: Workshops are generally held in the morning and afternoon with coffee breaks provided.

3. Accommodation and transportation

a. Accommodation

Delegates represent a wide range of agencies and while 4-star and 3-star hotels are required for most delegates, some budget accommodation should also be available.

b. Transport access

The venue should be located in an area with a range of accommodation options. Other accommodation should be close to the venue with ease of access through walking or public transportation. If required, transportation from the main hotel(s) to the event venue and back must be covered by the host. In addition, the host should provide transportation to the gala dinner if it is not easily accessible by walking or public transportation.

4. Administration and Coordination

a. Management structure

The application document should outline the organizational structure that the host agency will establish to plan and manage the INQAAHE Conference. Clear lines of responsibility should be defined, especially if multiple agencies are involved. A single appointed representative from the host agency will be responsible for communicating regularly with the INQAAHE Secretariat regarding organizational matters.

b. Administrative support

Adequate administrative support is crucial for a successful INQAAHE Conference. Applications should outline the staffing and resources that will be allocated to ensure a well-organized event. This includes pre-event support for registration, visa assistance, payment processing, marketing, and website development. During the event, the host agency should have a staffing plan in place to register attendees, manage technology, and assist with event navigation. Back-office facilities, including access to email, photocopying, and printing, should be available to both host staff and the INQAAHE Secretariat.

c. Visa assistance and invitations

The host is responsible for assisting registrants with travel, accommodation, and visa requirements. The host should facilitate the visa process, including providing official letters of invitation to the country when necessary.

d. Legal services

Conferences and Fora provide valuable opportunities for developing legal documentation that may require notarization. If possible, the host organization should identify a public notary who can be available during the event to assist with legal matters, including apostille services if needed.

5. Marketing and promotion

a. Conference website

The event website is one of the most critical aspects of an INQAAHE Conference. A successful bid agency is likely to have a functional, user-friendly, and visually appealing website for their own purposes and must investigate and propose a satisfactory event website. It is likely that registration and hotel bookings will be made online (whether in conjunction with local organisers or not) and time spent in planning the website will avoid considerable frustration at a later stage. A host should have the capacity to create, manage and update the website and registration mechanisms on a regular basis with very little administrative support from INQAAHE.

The information on the website should be clearly communicated and the graphic design should be attractive. The website should motivate attendees to register for the Conference, as well as provide them with all the necessary logistical details required for their planning.

At minimum, the website should feature information on speakers, workshops, draft programme, venue and accommodations, transportation and visa assistance, and welcome messages from INQAAHE leadership and hosts. Participants should be able to register for the Conference through the website and make payment arrangements through various means (bank transfers and card payments must be available options).

b. General promotion

Most advertising and recruitment for the event is conducted electronically. INQAAHE and the host will be co-responsible for creating electronic marketing materials, such as attractive emails and blog posts, as well as creating a proposed marketing schedule. The host should also market the Conference in its own region at various conference and events, as applicable. The host will be responsible for developing targeted invitees and attendees in its region and reaching out to individuals and groups for participation.

In addition, it is useful to have at least one professional looking hard-copy material to bring to various conferences to promote the upcoming Conference.

c. Onsite materials

Hosts should have a plan for onsite promotion and programme distribution, such as notebooks, bags, etc. Attendees should receive in advance, whether in hard copy or electronically, a list of other confirmed attendees, the final programme, and any other documentation the host and/or INQAAHE may deem necessary for the proper development of the Conference.

6. Budget

a. Financial arrangements - Conference

The biennial Conference and the workshops are organised on the basis that no financial liability falls on INQAAHE. All costs are met from delegate fees, sponsorships or other support secured by the host agency and/or INQAAHE. INQAAHE will expect to receive a fixed amount from the registration fee, normally 70 USD per head, and a 50% share in any surplus, although the Network will not be responsible for any deficit, which will fall to the host agency.

b. Financial arrangements – Pre-Conference Workshops

INQAAHE pre-Conference workshops are held on a programme discussed with the hosts and decided by the INQAAHE Conference Working Group and Board and attract a separate fee. Facilitators at these workshops give their services on a pro bono basis. Surpluses from these workshops form part of the Network income and should be reimbursed to the Secretariat at the conclusion of the event. Note that accommodation and travel expenses for the workshop presenters should be on economy class and covered by the host.

c. Budget

A preliminary budget that reflects the various events and requirements throughout the guidance should be submitted along with the application. It should reflect the proposed sources of revenue to support the Conference (fees, sponsorships, other support).

In the final budget, expenses should include, but are not limited to the following costs: venue, staffing and administration, opening reception, transportation for participants to all events, lunch and tea/coffee, gala dinner, informal reception, event badges/bags and other materials, small gifts for pre-Conference workshop facilitators and keynote speakers, economy travel and accommodation for pre-Conference workshop facilitators and keynote speakers, facility and refreshments for the Board Meeting, marketing and promotion costs, website, visa assistance, and any exhibition costs.

d. Green policy

To promote environmental sustainability, we are committed to minimizing our event's ecological footprint. The host is highly advised to implement green initiatives, such as:

- Reducing plastic waste: eliminate single-use plastic items wherever possible, such as water bottles, cutlery, and straws. Reusable alternatives could be provided.
 - Eliminate the use of individual plastic bottles of mineral water whenever possible. Instead, water dispensers with reusable cups or bottles could be provided.
 - Plastic glasses could be replaced with paper or compostable alternatives.
 - Single-use plastic cutlery, straws, and stirrers could be avoided. Reusable options or biodegradable alternatives could be used instead.
- Food packaging could be minimized and made from recyclable or compostable materials whenever possible.
- Promoting recycling: clear recycling bins could be placed throughout the event venue to encourage proper waste disposal.
- Conserving water: water-saving measures shall be implemented, such as using low-flow fixtures and limiting water usage for non-essential purposes.
- Minimizing energy consumption: energy-efficient lighting and equipment and encouraging attendees to unplug electronics when not in use.

By implementing these green initiatives, we aim to create a more sustainable and environmentally friendly event. We encourage the host and attendees to participate in our efforts to reduce our carbon footprint.

7. Additional sources of support

a. Sponsorships

Sponsors can be suggested by the host or INQAAHE. They should clarify their financial contribution to the overall budget and their organization's fundraising experience. All sponsorships are subject to INQAAHE Board approval. The sponsorship policy and agreement outline the ways sponsors can contribute to the event, and the impact on the Conference budget should be specified.

8. Fees

a. Conference and Workshop fees

The host will propose a fee range that the members will know prior to voting. The INQAAHE General Assembly is sensitive to fees due to the wide diversity in ability to pay across regions and countries. For reference, Conference 2025 fees were voted at 500 USD for INQAAHE members, 150 USD for one pre-Conference workshop, and 200 USD for two pre-Conference workshops. Proposals above this amount may have some challenges being approved. The final proposal should discuss the extent to which sponsorships or other creative measures may be used to keep costs reasonable for members.

b. Payment mechanism

The host must have the financial and legal capacity to collect payments in a timely manner from registrants from countries around the world. On-site payment is exceedingly complicated and is highly discouraged. As previously mentioned, the official Conference website should centralize payment of registration fees, making available two main payment options: by bank transfer and card.

c. Tracking system

The host should have the capacity to track and regularly report to INQAAHE on registrations, as well as keep Conference funds in a dedicated account. The host will be expected to report registration progress at agreed intervals, as well as provide complete registration lists to INQAAHE staff prior to the Conference and updated lists after the Conference.

9. Special attendees

a. Local delegates

One of the major benefits of hosting an INQAAHE Conference is to spread local awareness of global activities in quality assurance. Host agencies will usually wish to have a number of local delegates at the INQAAHE biennial event and delegate fees from local delegates can be particularly welcome.

However, it is important that the proportion of local to international delegates does not distort the nature or purpose of the event. Local organisers are welcome to precede or follow the Conference with a short (one day) workshop for local participants.

b. Board guests

Guests of the INQAAHE Board represent major international bodies such as UNESCO and are not charged a delegate fee. The total number of guests will be agreed upon by INQAAHE and the host agency prior to the event and be part of the agreement signed between both parties.

c. Keynote speakers and Pre-Conference Workshop facilitators

Transport, hotel, and registration costs of keynote speakers and Pre-Conference Workshop facilitators are covered by the host agency. Guests of the host agency are guests at the opening ceremony and social events and the costs incurred are met by the host agency.

d. Accompanying Persons programme

Accompanying persons are those who accompany delegates to the INQAAHE Conference but do not participate in the official event programme. For accompanying persons who plan to attend any of the INQAAHE event receptions or dinner functions, additional charges may be assessed to the registration fee to cover these costs.

e. Arrangements for delegates from less developed countries

Host agencies are asked to consider offering reduced fees for participants from LICs/LDCs. (Note: Less developed countries as defined by UNESCO and the World Bank).

10. Governance

a. INQAAHE event programme committee

The Board appoints a Conference Working Group to which the hosts nominate one representative. The Working Group shall plan the detailed schedule for the Conference, arrange for workshop presenters, give guidelines to the presenters, and liaise with the Board and the Local Organising Committee. The INQAAHE Board will approve the following, based on the advice of this working group: Conference theme, keynote speaker(s), workshop facilitator(s), event programme, organizational timeline, budget, registration fees, and venue changes.

b. Local organising committee

The host is encouraged to form a local organising committee to oversee and support the responsibilities of the host.

11. Timing of the event

a. Dates

As previously mentioned, the Conference dates should not fall on or near major bank holidays and observances, for the convenience and safety of attendees. Dates should be specified in the bid.

12. Contribution of the INQAAHE event to enhancing QA in HE in the host country

The bid document may outline particular contributions, which the event may present in developing a quality culture in higher education in the host country. The proposal should indicate the potential benefit at HE quality culture level the event may have in the region.

Step III – Presentation of Proposals at the General Assembly

All organizations whose full applications have been accepted for review by the Board prior to the event are expected to have representatives present a short version of their application during a General Assembly Meeting. As per the Constitution (art. 30.8), the INQAAHE Board reserves the right to make a recommendation to the General Assembly, although it may or may not do so depending upon the quality of the applications.

The presentation offered by each applicant agency to the General Assembly should be no longer than 5-8 minutes in length and must include information about the location and how INQAAHE and the local, regional, and global QA community will benefit from having the next INQAAHE event held in the specified country. This presentation can be done in person or virtually.

Once all applicant organizations have presented their proposals, the voting members present at the General Assembly will vote virtually through an online voting platform once the Conference has finished. The final selection will be based on the proposal that receives the most votes. In the case of a tie, a second round of voting will occur between the proposals which received the highest tied votes.
